NICHE Conference

Donegal recently welcomed European delegates and guest speakers to a unique food conference in Letterkenny.

Hosted by Local Enterprise Office, Donegal County Council, the conference marked the launch of NICHE, a European project which aims to develop innovation in the food industry in seven European regions where food has been identified as key for jobs and economic growth.

The conference included a series of key talks as well as workshops and Q&A sessions.

The next stage of the NICHE project will be to assess the current level of innovation among food businesses in each of the project partner regions, including Donegal. Following this, the project will aim to facilitate collaboration among the project partners to further develop the level of innovation in the food sector in these regions.

For more information on the NICHE Project and to improve the level of innovation in your business, contact Patrick Devine, Local Enterprise Office, Donegal County Council.

CONSULTATION DAY FOR SOCIAL ENTERPRISE BUILDING

Donegal County Council will host a day of public consultations on October 25th 2016 regarding the development of a Social Enterprise Building on a site adjacent to the existing Public Services Centre, Neil T. Blaney Road, Letterkenny. The Council proposes to invite all groups and organisations interested in becoming full-time tenants in the building to attend the Letterkenny Public Service Centre on the day. The consultations will take the form of pre-booked 30 minute meetings between the respective group and members of the Council staff. This will allow the Council to engage with the various groups to find out their needs as well as informing the interested parties as to the basis upon which the building will run and operate.

The one-to-one consultations will run from 9am to 7pm on October 25th at the Letterkenny Public Services Centre, Neil T. Blaney Road, Letterkenny, Co. Donegal. Interested parties
