

HAVE YOU EVER TRIED DRIVING
A TRUCK IN A NARROW STREET?

HOW WOULD YOU INTEGRATE
A WASTE BIN NEAR AN ANCIENT MONUMENT?

These are some of the concrete issues faced by European Heritage Cities. They are bound to respect strict aesthetic criteria and have winding city centres where ordinary waste management methods and equipment are hard to implement. In addition, they deal with permanent flows of tourists and remarkable economic activity which significantly increase waste production. This is why some European Heritage Cities have gathered to work on improving their waste policies and setting an example for others.
