Stakeholder event: Exploring Circular Plastic Synergies at Interregional Level

During the fifth semester, CCDRC, HWWI, Fryslân and Veltha worked on sketching out the features of a possible Pilot Action call, in the form of a Voucher Scheme, to finance interregional synergies in the circular plastics sector to promote the collaboration among stakeholders in the different regions and to fully capitalize on the outcomes achieved during the REPLACE project (in term of identification of possible circular value chains and interregional cooperation capabilities).

Several meetings were organized, internally and within the working group of the diverse partners to define the characteristics of the Voucher Scheme, making sure to be in line with the needs and necessities of the stakeholders. To this end, key stakeholders coming from the different regions were contacted and introduced in the discussion to collect clear insights and information regarding the potentialities and the capabilities for promoting circular economy in the plastic sector exploiting the complementarities among the regions and their economic actors.

The online stakeholder meeting took place on February 15th, with 6 participants representing key stakeholders active in the plastics sector.

The discussion allowed the collection of the direct experiences and the valuable inputs of the stakeholders working in the field, such insight was essential to formulate and define the features and the characteristics of the possible Pilot Action to support the interregional uptake of the circular plastics value chain.
