

Community: be part of a European network of policymakers!

The Policy Learning Platform is a space for continuous learning dedicated to policymakers around Europe. And because we believe we can be much stronger together than working in isolation, you too can now join an international community that meets online and face-to-face to network and exchange.

How does it work – an example:

1. Jane is involved in an Interreg Europe project, and after participating in the Platform webinar on e-mobility, she was particularly interested in going deeper into the topic of electricity grids.

2. She got in contact with Katharina and Simon, the Platform experts in low-carbon economy, and they jointly designed a webinar on that topic, open to the public.

3. More than 50 community members registered to this webinar on the impacts of transport electrification on the electricity grid. It was a great opportunity to share and learn about different good practices and successful initiatives around Europe.

Why should you be interested?

- You can be part of a community of European peers that meet frequently online (via webinars or similar) or face to face at networking events all around Europe.
- You will have exclusive access to services such as expert support, peer reviews and more.
- You can co-design activities and put forward the topics that are of interest to you, your organisation and your region.
