Tina-EIT RawMaterials to Everyone 11:14 AM

What would you say are the reasons that mining companies so rarely apply for R&D Calls?

To Tina: good question. We still are weak in building technology hubs with broad&long value chain. I suppose, post-COVID economy will develop thinking about local chains. This will also fulfill climate principle reducing transportation of raw materials. At least partially.

Our Company also like to continue working together, including, if possible, in other applications, because the topics have not yet been exhausted
