Stakeholders' meeting organised by Foundation for Research and Innovation

With CD-ETA project Foundation for Research and Innovation, Florence – ITALY is always looking for innovation, new technologies and best practices through direct meetings with stakeholders from very different sectors.

The Stakeholders Meeting that took place online on June 16th, was functional in the search for a local stakeholder who could represent the Foundation for Research and Innovation during the 2nd Thematic Seminar that would take place a few days later, on June 28th. In this last period, FRI was witnessing a rapid reaction to the changes caused by COVID-19: the emergency has forced the acceleration of digital infrastructure in public services, commerce and education.

To meet the global challenge of the pandemic, models, products and solutions must be adapted to new habits. That is the reason why FRI decided to focus their Stakeholders Meeting on:

- new needs of cities in managing both the ordinary issues and the high tourist flows around cultural heritage attractions;
- use of new digital assets to support the specific world of artisans and craftsmanship in the pandemic period
