

Resume of video

The Primary Care Clinical Station desktop is the main screen that appears upon entering the Electronic Health Record. That application includes everything necessary for daily work.

The video describes its components, including the side tabs and the display area for the worklist, as well as the inboxes containing messages about the patients for whom the professional is a reference.